

Larry M. Lee

July 9, 1955 - December 26, 2020

If tomorrow starts without me, and I'm not here to see,
If the sun should rise you find your eyes all filled with tears for me;
I wish so much you wouldn't cry the way you did today,
While thinking of the many things we didn't get to say.

“ One thing I will always remember about grandpa is how he always put others first no matter the cost. And how he came to so many of my games even though he lived so far away.

“ I remember when me and my papa would always argue about who was better. (Cowboys vs. Chiefs) He would always talk about how bad Patrick Mahomes was and I would always laugh at him when the Cowboys were losing. Papa was always proud of me and never stopped telling me how proud he was. I will never forget the memories I had and made with my grandpa. May the best grandpa in the world Rest In Peace.

“ Mike was above all a family man. He placed his family as a top priority as the subject of family would come up in all conversations with him. He described his wife Vilma as his bride of forty-five years. He would continue this same train of thought when it came to his children by discussing that they accomplished more than he did. He was tremendously proud of the accomplishments and growth of his family and that extended to his grandchildren, as well. But through all of the praises that he heaped upon his family, we must not forget his impact on others. He volunteered to serve our country and performed most admirably in the U.S. Navy. He touched many lives in a positive manner with kindness and being of assistance to others. I'll miss you dear friend. Fair winds and following seas. Ivory

“ Mike was the type of guy who you felt you'd known way longer than you did. The first time we met, I felt I'd known him forever. He was fun to be around and always knew when he could throw in a quick joke. My fondest memory of Mike was how proud he was of his new Indian and how easy it was for him to make fun of the Harley guys, his own son included!

Rest easy Mike and hope we'll ride again one day!

“ I met Mike some time ago through his son, Mike, who was my neighbor. Mike and I were competitors -- Mike a Sailor and me a Marine. We enjoyed making fun of each other and our sister service. Mike was a genuine man. He loved his family and loved our country. We never had a conversation where Larry didn't talk about Vilma or his children. Mike was proud of all they had accomplished and adored his grandchildren; I know because he told me so. Even though we only met a couple times when they did their southern migration from New Hampshire, Mike enjoyed life and didn't sweat the small stuff. On one visit, we rode our motorcycles to a cycle dealership to look at an Indian motorcycle and the following year, Mike had purchased a beautiful Indian. He loved riding and loved life.

Mike will be missed by all and those of us who knew him were forever changed.

Rest in peace, brother.
